FCC 1: BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY

Title: Fire Department

Date: Week of November 16, 2002

Info: Chief Gary Skogen will remain in his position until the new chief takes over in January. Skogen has spent almost 37 years serving the City of Onalaska on the Fire Department. In the Onalaska City Council Chambers you can see portraits of 6 of the city's mayors. Skogen has been with the fire department through all of those administrations.

Title: Bridge Construction

Date: Week of November 16, 2002

Info: Construction of a bridge along side the Cass Street Bridge will start in the spring. It will take about a year and a half to complete, as it stands now. Both east and westbound traffic uses the same bridge, one lane going each way. The new bridge will allow eastbound traffic to use one bridge, westbound the other.

Title: Midwest Airlines

Date: Week of November 16, 2002

Info: If you fly Midwest Express Airlines out of La Crosse Airport, there are some changes that will affect your wallet. The airline is creating service fees for paper tickets, when electronic tickets are available. The cost will be 20 dollars per ticket, and to replace a ticket, it will cost you $80. But you can cut that in half if you find your ticket within 60 days. The changes will take affect December 4th. A Midwest Express representative says the new fees are along the same lines as most U.S. carriers.

Title: Voltage

Date: Week of December 8, 2002

Info: Wisconsin Utility and Electric Cooperatives have agreed to help pay to upgrade wiring on dairy farms to guard against stray voltage. For years, Wisconsin utilities fought claims by farmers that stray voltage was hurting their dairy herds, and even denied there was such a thing as stray voltage. But now, many companies are offering grants and loans to farmers to rewire their farms. In all, utilities and electric cooperatives expect to spend 8 million dollars on the rewiring program. This is the first comprehensive plan in the nation designed to deal with stray voltage.

Title: Red Kettle

Date: Week of December 8, 2002

Info: Donations are pouring in for this year's Red Kettle Campaign, but the Salvation Army still needs your help. The goal is to raise more than $96,000 this year. As of Saturday, people had donated nearly $44,000. That's up from last year, when the Salvation Army had raised only about $26,000 at this same time. The bell ringers will be out less than two weeks. The Salvation Army also wants to remind you, that you can mail or drop off donations as well.

FCC 2: GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

Title: Winona Jail

Date: Week of November 10, 2002

Info: The Winona County Jail is crowded. So now, convicted inmates will have to pay rent. The Winona County Commissioners approved a resolution requiring prisoners to pay 65 dollars a day for room and board. The new policy will take effect within two weeks. If an inmate becomes ill, needs dental work or requires medication that too will be billed to the prisoner when he leaves jail. The state gave counties permission in August to charge prisoners for the cost of their incarceration. The Winona County Sheriff says so far, six counties have implemented such a policy.

Title: Rental Ordinance

Date: Week of November 10, 2002

Info: The La Crosse City Council has decided to delay a rental inspection ordinance. The ordinance is designed to clean up neighborhoods in La Crosse. It was a packed house full of debate last night at the City Council Chambers. The City Council voted to recommend the full City Council to refer the rental inspection ordinance for six months. Concerns were voiced at the public hearing that good landlords are being singled out for no reason, and being asked to do a police officers job. While others feel everyone would benefit from an inspection program.

Title: TV Ads

Date: Week of November 10, 2002

Info: Speaking of the campaign, in Wisconsin, television stations earned more than 12 million dollars this year for airing political ads. That's according to a report released today by the Wisconsin Democracy Campaign. The report also says stations in Milwaukee, Green Bay and Madison aired more than 36,000 political ads by candidates, parties and issue groups. The figures were compiled by a private firm that tracks political advertising on television. The Wisconsin Democracy Campaign is a government watchdog and Lobbyist group. The group's president, Mike McCabe, says the cost of T.V. is the driving force behind runaway campaign spending.

Title: Tax Time

Date: Week of November 24, 2002

Info: Doing a little research before tax season officially begins, may save you some money. Many CPA's say the best strategy for preparing your tax returns is to start early, and work on lowering your taxable income and increasing your deductions. Here are some tips. If you can, take a Christmas bonus in January, put more money in your 401K, and make a complete list of your charitable giving. Try to prepay some of your mortgage payments so you can deduct the interest on this year's return. Take the time to look into the different types of deductions. There are a lot of new education deductions, including one for educators. Because of last year's changes in tax laws, tax rates will fall in the next few years. Which means future deductions may not be worth as much. But your tax bill will be smaller.

FCC 3: ENVIRONMENT

Title: Trucking

Date: Week of January 5, 2003

Info: A proposed mining operation in La Crescent is causing some controversy. A developer wants to mine clay on a piece of land behind Weiser Park, and haul it by the truckload to the La Crosse County Landfill to prevent garbage from seeping into the groundwater. Many people in La Crescent are opposed to the project saying it will mean increased traffic and noise. Thousands of truckloads would be going back and forth through the city for six months out of the year, and the project could take five years to complete. The developers say they also want to develop the land into residential homes after the mining project is complete.

Title: Bird Stock

Date: Week Of January 7, 2003

Info: The Department of Natural Resources is taking stock of all the birds found in Minnesota's 72 State Parks. As the DNR survey's each of the parks, a bird checklist is being compiled that will eventually be available to the public.

Title: Deer Stands

Date: Week of December 17, 2002

Info: Permanent deer stands were once considered a minor nuisance on public lands. But they're a growing problem that has prompted counties, the Department of Natural Resources, and the U-S Forest Service to take a stand. This year, DNR foresters have been warning hunters that the ban on permanent enclosed stands is being enforced, while allowing hunters reasonable time to remove them. Failure to do so could result in a citation and subsequent fines.

Title: Melting Ice

Date: Week of December 9, 2002

Info: It seems every year we hear about people falling through ice. Already this year, three kids in Minnesota have died and several people in our area have broken through the ice and with the weather warming up this week, we have some important reminders for you. You can safely walk on ice that's four inches or thicker. When it comes to snowmobiles, the ice needs to be five inches or thicker. Driving a car on ice is only safe on ice that is at least eight inches thick.

FCC 4: EDUCATION

Title: Enrollment

Date: Week of November 10, 2002

Info: A hot-button issue in any community is enrollment boundaries. The La Crosse School District will hold a listening session tonight at Logan High School. More than 100 parents and staff members attended the first listening session. Parents are concerned with the new boundaries. A lot of the children that will be forced to change schools can see their current school from their front door. Now they will have to ride the bus to a new school that's miles away. Some high school students also attended the listening session. Right now more students attend Central than Logan. Under the new plan, they would try to make the number of students attending each school equal. Some student's from Central would go to Logan. But Central students say the number of students is not the problem. Logan has more athletic facilities and more advanced placement classes. The students want the School Board to work on making those programs equal rather than just the student population.

Title: Minnesota Schools

Date: Week of December 8, 2002

Info: The Minnesota Teachers Union released a plan for the future of the state's Public Schools. The plan is called "Blueprint, building the future of public education in Minnesota." The union is worried the looming state budget deficit will mean more cuts to education. Union Leaders are trying to set up a meeting with governor-elect Tim Pawlenty to discuss the future of education in the state.

Title: State Money

Date: Week of December 1, 2002

Info: Wisconsin will spend nearly a million dollars in the next three years to help high school students better prepare themselves for college. It's called advanced placement classes. The classes give students a head start by giving them the chance to earn college credits while in high school. The La Crosse School district already has this program in place. Students can take the courses but they must pass the exam for the class to be fiber-optics network to provide the classes online.

Title: Security Cameras in Schools

Date: Week of December 8, 2002

Info: There are now several extra sets of eyes in many of La Crosse's schools. Five public schools are now equipped with surveillance cameras. The cameras were installed to add additional safety and security. At Logan High three cameras are up monitoring busy areas within the school. Each camera records 16 hours of video a day. A few middle schools within the La Crosse School District now have cameras as well as an elementary school.

FCC 5: PUBLIC HEALTH

Title: Heart Defibrillator

Date: Week of November 10, 2002

Info: Federal Health Officials have approved sales of the first heart defibrillator specifically designed for use in the home. Every year more than two hundred thousand americans collapse and die of cardiac arrest. But a jolt of electricity from a defibrillator can sometimes restart the heart and save a life. They've become a common sight in airports, shopping malls, and even amusement parks. Now, the F.D.A. is authorizing the sale of defibrillators similar to this one for general home use. The initial price tag will be a hefty $2,259.

Title: Health

Date: Week of December 8, 2002

Info: Wisconsin employers are still paying some of the highest costs in the nation for health care benefits. A new survey finds the cost of health benefits for employees in Wisconsin rose nearly 15% this year. It's 20% higher than the national average of about $5,700. The survey also finds Wisconsin residents expect a rise again next year.

Title: Kohl Speaks on Health Care

Date: Week of December 8, 2002

Info: If you pay for your own health insurance, you know how much costs have gone up recently. Wisconsin Senator Herb Kohl was in La Crosse talking about health care issues. Kohl was the Keynote Speaker at the annual meeting of the La Crosse area Development Corporation. He also spoke about possible ways to lower health care costs.

Title: University of Wisconsin La Crosse

Date: Week of November 10, 2002

Info: College students know the dangers of drinking and driving, but there's another danger after a night out on the town, many students don't think about. 22-year-old Michael Noll of Rochester, a student at UW Eau Claire, disappeared after leaving a bar in an intoxicated state last week. Some U.W. La Crosse students say it's a reminder about the potential dangers. Authorities remind everyone to have a plan when they're out. Know where you're going to be, who you're going to be with, and what time you plan on leaving.

Title: Well Women

Date: Week of November 24, 2002

Info: The rising cost of health care is forcing some women to put their health on the back burner. But, a state program is trying to reverse that trend. The Wisconsin Well Women program pays for annual physicals, also, breast and cervical cancer screenings. Women who are 35 years or older, and who meet the income guidelines are eligible for the program. The application process is very simple, and you can sign up at eight area clinics and the Public Health Department. Women who participate in the Well Women program are also eligible for free treatment, if they're diagnosed with cancer.

FCC 6: RECREATION

Title: Deer Hunt

Date: Week of November 24, 2002

Info: Wisconsin's deer hunting season is off to one of the safest starts in recent history. There's been only one fatality and nine accidents through its first four days. A 48-year-old man died in Western Wisconsin over the weekend of an accidental self-inflicted gunshot wound. In 1997 there were ten accidents and one fatality. Last year, seven hunters died in 19 shooting related accidents. It was the most hunter deaths since 1987. The season started last Saturday and ends this Sunday.

Title: Towboat

Date: Week of November 24, 2002

Info: The last towboat of the season is on its way down the Mississippi. The Kathy Ellen left Saint Paul Sunday. A second tow was in pool 4 above Alma, Wisconsin. Both are heading south this morning. Monday, the W.A. Kernan traveled through lock and dam 7 near La Crescent. It's headed to Saint Louis with corn and beans, and stopped in La Crosse to pick up another load. Minnesota D.O.T. officials say the average shipping season on the river lasts 257 days.

Title: Choir

Date: Week of November 24, 2002

Info: It may be a little early, but the sounds of Christmas could be heard coming from the Cartwright Center on the UW-La Crosse campus. The Moscow Boy's Choir came to town for a concert last night, and it's one of the most prestigious all boys choirs in Russia. It's their Christmas around the world tour. The choir is touring the country, its known for its blend of soprano voices mixed with a rich resonance of bass and baritone sound.

Title: Turkey Trot

Date: Week of November 24, 2002

Info: Thanksgiving is still more than a few days away, but today, some turkeys were out trotting around before the big day. More than 700 runners took part in this year's Turkey Trot at UW-La Crosse. The 5-K run raised money for the National Sports Youth Program and collects food for the Salvation Army. The race is a little different than others. The winners are determined by the runners who most accurately predict their finish time without going over. WXOW 19 is a proud sponsor of this year's Turkey Trot.

Title: 7 Rivers

Date: Week of December 1, 2002

Info: La Crosse and Winona are only about 3 minute apart. But its safe to say this morning, they are not that far apart when it comes to each cities strengths and weaknesses. That's why the greater La Crosse-Winona collaborative and the 7 Rivers Region, has started the two cities on a track that would benefit both. Everyone involved feels there are a lot of opportunities to come together on. That includes creating jobs.

FCC 7: CHILDREN'S ISSUES

Title: Gifts

Date: Week of November 17, 2002

Info: It's not only the adults getting a head start on their Christmas shopping. Today a group of local high school students helped some kids pick out presents for their parents. The students are part of Aquinas School's Community Service Group, called Impact. They helped more than 40 kids with their Christmas shopping at Blessed Sacrament's advent fair. The students also made crafts with the kids. All of the items at the fair are donated from local businesses. This is the 5th year, student's from the "Impact" group have volunteered at the advent fair.

Title: Kids Shots

Date: Week of December 1, 2002

Info: Gundersen Lutheran Pediatricians say have your kids got a flu vaccination. Doctor Gary Stiers says he and other pediatricians are focusing on children this age because they have an increased risk for flu-related hospital stays. Doctor Stiers says children under 6 months are adequately protected from the flu by their mother's antibodies. He also says lower risk children and adults can avoid a couple of weeks of fever and chills with the shot.

Title: Brain Game

Date: Week of December 1, 2002

Info: Every parent wants his or her child to get off to the right start, and now there's some help. A book called "The Brain Game" has been helping kids develop the brainpower they'll need to be a good student. The La Crosse Rotary Club put it together. The book teaches parents ways to stimulate their child and help them reach their full potential. The writers of the book are specialists from around La Crosse. Some of them spoke this weekend at an open house at Barnes and Noble. The book is free to expecting moms at La Crosse's two hospitals. It's also available at local bookstores. The "Brain Game" is a community-wide effort between the Rotary Club, Gundersen Lutheran, Franciscan Skemp and other organizations.

Title: Dangerous Toys

Date: Week of November 24, 2002

Info: A word of warning, there are some dangerous toys on store shelves this morning. Last year, emergency room doctors treated more than 250,000 people for toy related injuries. Here's a common test you can do at home, especially if you have young children. Take an empty toilet paper roll. If the toy fits through it, it's too small for your child, and it poses a choking hazard. Also, safety experts say to watch out for toys that can be toxic. They say any toys that contain what are called "Phthalate" Chemicals, can be harmful to children. For a list of dangerous toys, you can visit the website of either the Wisconsin Department of Consumer Protection or the Wisconsin Public Interest Research Group.

ABC NEWS PROGRAMS – Primetime, 20/20 - Fourth Quarter, 2002
PRIMETIME

Thursday, October 3, 2002

LOVE SONG – 3 parts (Amy & Vince)

Jay Schadler; Producer David Perozzi; Support Marcia Biggs

In this Primetime exclusive, two of the biggest stars in the music world finally talk about the secret love neither of them could deny. Honest and powerful as the songs they sing, Amy Grant and Vince Gill talk about a love story long in the making – at one time a major scandal – and now a beautiful relationship. Amy Grant, who sang about God, underwent moral turmoil about leaving her husband for another man. Vince Gill, who didn't think the perfect woman could come along...but did. Jay Schadler and a couple's intimate portrait.

THE BETRAYAL – 2 parts (Mississippi Splits)

Chris Wallace; Producer Joe Rhee; Support Erik Olsen and Michael Pickup

A powerful political couple, an illicit love affair, their priest and a secret audio tape. What a wife said when she didn't know she was being taped was one of the reasons she lost legal custody of her children. She blames her family's long-time priest! It's a story that focuses on the role of confession, keeping confidence, and asks the question: who can you really trust? And what will happen now that the truth--the whole truth--is out?

Thursday, October 10, 2002

SANTANA HIGH – 2 parts (Andy Williams)

Diane Sawyer; Producer Greg Fisher; Support James Wang

For a parent there can be no greater horror than the discovery that your bright, sunny, good-natured child has set off on a downward spiral and dark road that will lead him to murder. Primetime reports the story of a boy who everyone loved. For the first time, Charles Andy Williams, the 15-year-old who opened fire on his classmates in San Diego, killing two and wounding thirteen others, speaks to Diane Sawyer about that fateful day...and his even more uncertain future in prison.

A PRIMETIME INVESTIGATION -- 1 part (TYCO)

Brian Ross; Producer Jill Rackmill; Support Madeleine Sauer, Yoruba Richen, and Gerilyn Curtin

In this Primetime exclusive about mega-money and corporate greed, prosecutors say what happened at TYCO could have been one of the most brazen money grabs of all time. Outrageous stories about a $6,000 shower curtain and a $15,000 umbrella stand. Primetime investigates how bad it really was at TYCO.

FLIGHT OF FANCY -- 2 parts (Rocket Belt)

Chris Cuomo; Producer Howard Rosenberg; Support Michael Pickup and Emily Holland

Kidnapping, murder, and a madcap scheme to grab control of a James Bond-like flying machine -- it's like something out of a spy novel, with bizarre twists and turns and an ending you'll never see coming. The rocket-pack that enables one to fly like a bird, but pitted friends and colleagues against each other in a desperate, deadly struggle for fame and fortune.

Thursday, October 17, 2002

ZODIAC -- 5 parts (Zodiac Killer)

John Quinones; Producer Harry Phillips; Support Erin Laurence and Emily Holland

He called himself 'Zodiac,' and he left behind a trail of bodies and taunting letters. Then suddenly, the murders stopped and he went silent. For the past year, Primetime dug for clues and reopened the terrifying case of San Francisco's notorious serial killer, using cutting-edge science to find the true identity of the madman behind the slayings. Critical new evidence is now brought to light using DNA technology and possible suspects are interviewed.

Thursday, October 24, 2002

STRANGER IN THE BEDROOM – 5 parts (Philly Cops)

Diane Sawyer; Producer Robbie Gordon; Support Jason Rovou

Diane Sawyer and gritty, big city homicide cops, as they really are. For more than two years, Primetime shadowed five homicide squad detectives, as they hunted for cold-blooded killers. Primetime joined them on the train, as they solved a frustrating murder and unearthed startling new evidence about a rape and murder case involving a child. Primetime learned -- along with his girlfriend -- who the Center City Rapist really was. Primetime went home to their family dinners, birthday parties, and saw how rough life really was on and off the job.

Thursday, October 31, 2002

THE HOUSE IN AMITYVILLE -- 2 parts (Amityville)

Elizabeth Vargas; Producers Jon Meyersohn and Tom Goldstone; Support Ruth Reiss and Erik Olsen
For Halloween, Primetime investigates the facts behind one of the most enduring ghost stories of all time: the Amityville horror. Like the best ghost tales, this one begins with something that really happened: 6 people murdered, inside a house, in suburban New York. But what happened next is what truly gave rise to the legend of the haunted house in Amityville. Elizabeth Vargas reports on the strange details about the murders and myth of Amityville.

NORTHERN EXPOSURE -- 1 part (Bering Straits)

John Quinones; Producer Bert Rudman; Support Eric Strauss

An amazing adventure and an eccentric millionaire with a big and very risky dream. It is not easy to go boldly where no man has gone before these days, but why would someone, almost obsessively, risk his life to be the first to do something, and why would a woman follow him literally to the ends of the earth?

VOICES FROM BEYOND -- 2 parts (Halloween Tricks)

Chris Cuomo; Muriel Pearson; Support Logan Nakyanzi

Is it possible to communicate with the dead? Is it possible to enter a place where the world of the living and deceased cross over and collide? This strange notion is terrifying to some and comforting to others. For years, the idea of communicating with dead ones has increased in popularity. Primetime investigates the authenticity and entertainment value of the practice.

Thursday, November 7, 2002

TLC

SCHOOL CAFETERIAS

Millions of parents send their children to school each day with the expectation that they will be served a healthy lunch. However, senior correspondent Chris Wallace reports that many parents might be shocked if they knew about the deplorable health conditions that plague school cafeteria kitchens across the country. Primetime follows along on surprise inspections that reveal dangerous violations.

PILE-UP

Chris Cuomo reports on the headline-making California highway pile-up that left dozens injured. Almost 200 cars and trucks collided in a chain-reaction of crashes in foggy conditions south of Los Angeles. Using simulator technology, safety experts explain why it happened and demonstrate how easy it is to lose your bearings when the weather is bad.

OVERWEIGHT

Cynthia McFadden reports on the stories of four overweight teens who have allowed Primetime to air excerpts of their very personal video diaries. These powerful accounts reveal an intense anger burning inside the girls -- anger at themselves for being overweight, and toward society for its cruel behavior toward people who are different.

TEXAS JAIL

A group of Texas women speak out for the first time about the abuse they claim they suffered in a small town near Fort Worth, TX. The women, who were all sent to Haltom City Jail for minor violations, tell John Quinones that jailor Clint Weaver took advantage of their vulnerabilities in the worst possible ways. According to the women, Weaver degraded and sexually abused them.

THE REAL EMINEM STORY

With a platinum-selling music career and now a top-grossing, semi-autobiographical film, Eminem has achieved mainstream superstardom. Some of those who know him best -- including his mother, who is currently locked in a nasty battle of words with the rapper -- tell Jay Schadler the real story behind America's favorite bad boy.

MEGAFAMILIES

Some families will have many more mouths to feed than most of us this Thanksgiving -- and plenty of reasons to be thankful. Charles Gibson visits the Bells and Kayes, two extraordinary families who are part of the growing number of so-called "megafamilies." They are headed by selfless parents who have taken large numbers of kids in need under their wings and into their hearts. Lewis and Tanya Bell of Harrisburg, PA, have 16 children, 11 of them adopted. Nancy and Joe Kayes of Cincinnati, OH, have adopted 14 children from all over the world, including 12 who have serious medical problems.

ARMED FORCES

Photographers Capture a Day in the Life of the U.S. Armed Forces. Elizabeth Vargas reports that the photojournalists had the opportunity to record exceptional stories of courage and commitment. As part of a book project, the photographers took more than 200,000 pictures at military installations around the world, beginning with sunrise in Guam and ending with sundown in Alaska.

SERIAL RAPISTS

Prosecutors are expected to announce whether they will throw out the convictions of five men imprisoned as teenagers more than a decade ago for viciously attacking a female jogger in New York's Central Park in 1989. Senior legal correspondent Cynthia McFadden takes a closer look at the man who recently told her that he was the sole assailant in the crime that enraged and divided an entire city.

HEALTH SYSTEMS

Chris Cuomo reports that some parents are making the heart-wrenching decision to give up custody of their mentally ill children to ensure that the government will pay for the care they so desperately need. Most state health systems do not offer the money and programs to treat children with "significant" mental illnesses that they do for physically ill kids. Parents who cannot afford private care are often left with no recourse but to turn their children over to the state.

ANTIQUES

A "Primetime Thursday" investigation into the antique business puts a new spin on an age-old adage; hidden cameras reveal the best advice may be "let the seller beware."

DC SNIPER

In an emotional interview with Diane Sawyer, the mother, aunt and uncle of 13-year-old Iran Brown -- the youngest victim of the D.C.-area snipers -- talk about the fateful day that changed their lives forever.

BUYING HABITS

Do men and women buy products for different reasons? Why do most of us automatically turn right when we enter a store? Observational research has been used by scientists to study animals, but Jay Schadler reports that now the same techniques are being employed by marketers to learn more about consumers' buying habits.

VANISHED COUPLE-PART I

Correspondent: John Miller; Producer: Claudia Kist

Bison Dele was a famous NBA basketball player. He retired from his career as a basketball player to find his soul. He bought a yacht to cruise the world with his girlfriend, Serena Carlin. In New Zealand, they picked up Miles, Bison's brother. Bison and Serena then flew to Tahiti and met the yacht there. The captain, Serena, Bison and Miles set sail, but only Miles returned; the others, never to be seen again. All fingers point to Miles. He lived in the shadow of Bison. Bison was well read, philosophical and soft spoken. Miles could never get his act together.

VANISHED COUPLE-PART II

Correspondent: John Miller; Producer: Claudia Kist

Phone calls to the boat went unanswered, as well as emails. A personal check from Bison Dele raised suspicion in his manager and friend Kevin Porter. Bison hadn't written a check in years. Miles was trying to buy half a million dollars in gold. Police apprehended Miles, but could not keep him due to lack of evidence. The yacht – Hakuna Matata – was found in a marina with fresh paint on it. A man in Tahiti told police that Miles had rammed the boat into a reef and wanted it repaired so that he could return to sea. Miles told an old girlfriend that Bison killed the captain, he himself killed Bison in self-defense and then killed Serena by accident. He then threw the bodies overboard. Miles was found dead of a cocaine overdose on a beach in Mexico.

DIANA'S BUTLER

Correspondent: Chris Connelly; Producer: Reid Orvedahl

Paul Burrell was the private butler of Princess Diana. He has been accused of stealing 300 of the late princess' personal items. Burrell claims the princess gave him these items and asked him to keep them safe. Some want him punished for the so-called crime and others believe he is simply a devoted servant. Paul became a low-grade celebrity because of his connection to Diana. He knows a lot more about her than people imagine!

GMAB-Credit Card

Correspondent: John Stossel; Producer: Kristy Kendall

John Stossel says that many government employees are dipping into the company funds. Credit cards have been used by the Defense Department to make government purchases. Most offenders haven't been reprimanded. The Defense Department has a trillion dollars of unaccounted money. John Stossel says "Give Me A Break!"

HUGH DOWNS

Correspondent: Barbara Walters; Producer: Brad LaRosa

Hugh Downs is promoting his 11th book – "My America" on QVC. The book is a series of essays from average Americans. He has been on the air for 60 years. In 1978, he took over the hosting duties of "20/20." He left 2 years ago.

FIDEL CASTRO-PART I

Correspondent: Barbara Walters; Producer: Martin Clancy

25 years after interviewing Fidel Castro, Barbara Walters returns to Cuba to interview him again. He is still a commanding persona at age 76. He is the longest reigning leader in the world. The U.S. says that he is developing chemical weapons. He says it is not true. He says that a small nation this close to the most powerful nation in the world would be insane to start making threats against the larger nation. President Bush has said that he will veto any relaxation of restrictions on Cuba, if a free election is not held. Castro says that in countries where illiteracy exists, people cannot speak of freedom. He says that without culture or knowledge, freedom is nowhere.

FIDEL CASTRO-PART II

Correspondent: Barbara Walters; Producer: Martin Clancy

Fidel Castro still argues about freedom. He says that freedom of the press was different in Cuba than in America. He says the argument is old now. Barbara asked him why he does not allow his people to demonstrate? He claims that he has never suppressed a demonstration, for they have never had one. He says that his people have a lot. His people study free-of-charge in the universities, get free medical care, and will never have to ask for money. He says that socialism works. It works in his country. If socialism doesn't work, then neither does capitalism.

FIDEL CASTRO-PART III

Correspondent: Barbara Walters; Producer: Martin Clancy

Elian Gonzalez was fished from the seas after he and his mother tried to escape Cuba; she drowned during the journey. Elian went on to Miami. After a long legal battle he was sent back to Cuba. Fidel Castro says the Elian affair helped the good feelings toward the Americans. He says that over 80 % of Americans supported the return of Elian to Cuba. Elian's father, Juan Miguel's father says that Elian is very happy back in Cuba. Cuba is still recovering from the fall of the Soviet Union. The people don't have much money but those who do, renovate.

THE DC-AREA SNIPER

Correspondent: John Miller; Producer: John Bilotta

John Miller reports with an update on the latest with the DC-Area Sniper. Ten victims thus far, three of them shot while pumping gas. Many people are avoiding the outdoors, fueling cars and sporting events. Police are looking for a white Chevy Astro van, of which 6,000 exist in the Washington area.

FIDEL CASTRO-PART IV

Correspondent: Barbara Walters; Producer: Martin Clancy

Today is the end of what was 40 years ago the Cuban Missile Crisis. He claims his political mistakes added to the crisis, but that he acted within international law.

FIDEL CASTRO-PART V

Correspondent: Barbara Walters; Producer: Martin Clancy

Fidel says that even with the embargo Cuba will prosper. He has 3,000 doctors working in other nations for free. He doesn't believe that people give Cuba enough credit.

Friday, October 18, 2002

THE DC-AREA SNIPER

Correspondent: John Miller; Producer: Brian Hale

John Miller provides us with the latest update on the Washington, DC-Area Sniper. Apparently, there was a man that was hit by a sniper in Maryland in mid-September, two weeks before the large scale shooting began. Police will not commit to claiming it was the beginning of it all.

BOB CRANE

Correspondent: Chris Connelly; Producer:

Bob Crane, famous for his role in "Hogan's Heroes," was a sex maniac! Tonight, as the movie about his secret life "Auto Focus" opens in theaters, Chris Connelly talks to his wife and children about Crane's "hobby." His wife Patricia Olsen, knew about his sexual habits and trysts but she still loved him. His children all claim he was a great family man at home.

GMAB-TOBACCO

Correspondent: John Stossel; Producer: Frank Mastropolo

Remember the billions of dollars that the tobacco industry had been ordered to pay out to anti-smoking campaigns aimed at teaching our children not to smoke? John Stossel has discovered that much of that money has been spent on various things not at all related to anti-smoking campaigns. ie: lawyers, tobacco farmers and golf courses. John Stossel says "Give Me A Break!"

DAVID ROCKEFELLER

Correspondent: Barbara Walters; Producer: Martin Clancy

Barbara interviews David Rockefeller, the youngest of John D. Rockefeller Jr's six children. He was raised as an icon and controlled the largest bank in the United States. The Rockefeller fortune started with John D, who made his fortune by forming Standard Oil Company. Rockefeller hired people to help him spend money to help the world. He believes that making money was a gift from God. David believes that being a Rockefeller has obligations to the public. He has worked his entire life because he enjoys it. He wants his family to be remembered for making money honestly and sharing opportunities.

THE DC-AREA SNIPER

Correspondent: John Miller; Producer: Brian Hale

Finally, the DC-Snipers are caught! John Malvo and John Muhammad were working together. Prosecutors now have to prove their guilt. The 1990 Chevy Caprice they were captured in was modified allowing access to the trunk. The sniper would take a shot through a hole in the trunk and the driver would casually drive away. Police theorize that the pair might have switched sniper duties.

HEATHER MILLS

Correspondent: Barbara Walters; Producer: Rob Wallace

Heather Mills, former model, has wed Paul McCartney after his first wife died four years ago. Heather said this last year has been horrendous for them publicly. The press constantly hounds them. They have no privacy, and they have been criticized because they wouldn't talk about their relationship. She recently wrote a book about her life and hardships. Her mother ran off and her father was put in jail. Her mother took her back but threw her out when she didn't get along with her stepfather. She ended up becoming a model. Heather was hit by a police motorcycle on August 8th, 1993, and she lost her leg. Heather met Paul through a charity event in London.

BABY TALK

Correspondent: Juju Chang; Producer: Marc Dorian

"Baby Talk" magazine is looking for the perfect baby for its cover. Editor Susan Cain says that winning the contest could launch a modeling career. Out of 127,000 babies, six were singled out. The baby who earned the cover was Lindsey Polluck from Long Island. Lindsey's parents struggled to have a baby for two years. They say she is a miracle baby. She has become a cover model at 16 months.

SNIPER AFTERMATH

Correspondent: Bob Brown; Producer: Dean Irwin

Bob Brown reports. The Sniper attacks have shaken up much of America. Bob Brown interviews families that were affected by the Sniper attacks.

VIDEOTAPING CRIMES

Correspondent: Arnold Diaz ; Producer:

Some youths are imitating art, filming their malicious antics. Jane Buckingham, sociologist, says that underground videos depicting fights, bum wrestling and worse are peddled everywhere. These teens are violent and self-destructive. They commit crimes such as assaulting other teens, vandalizing houses, blowing up a police cruiser, etc. and then tape them. Several of them have been prosecuted with their own video.

PAY TO PLAY

Casting directors are taking money from the hopeful actors in Hollywood. They are now hosting acting workshops and making actors pay for them. The tickets range from $50 to $100 dollars. Many say this is wrong and these actors are trying to buy their way into a part. In fact, California legislature has declared workshops illegal.

BRANDY

Correspondent: JuJu Chang; Producer: Karen Saunders

Brandy is back in the public eye! Her career began in 1994 when her first album went double platinum. She was fifteen years old. Her second CD won a Grammy. She then landed her own sitcom "Moesha." Her life seemed like a fairy tale but in reality it wasn't. She was working seven days a week and starving herself. Brandy's mother, Sonya Norwood, managed her daughter's career. Her mother pressured her constantly and they fought a lot. Brandy just wanted to be a normal teen. After going through a breakdown, she has come out on top! She now eats well, takes care of herself, has married a wonderful man and has a baby daughter named Shara.

Friday, November 15, 2002

AL GORE - PART I & II

Correspondent: Barbara Walters; Producer: Glenn Silber

Barbara Walters interviews Al Gore about the Presidential race against George Bush and his life as it is now. Al and Tipper Gore are living in Nashville. They built a house very similar to the White House minus the wings. After the election race, Al took 18 months off from politics and now he is back. The battle for votes during the race was an emotional roller coaster. The projections had him winning and losing.

Friday, November 22, 2002

THREE-ON-ONE

In a rare television interview, Leonardo DiCaprio joins co-star, Tom Hanks and director, Steven Spielberg in a conversation with Barbara Walters about their highly-anticipated movie, "Catch Me If You Can." The movie chronicles the life of Frank Abagnale, one of the most colorful con men in recent history. In a companion piece, "20/20" co-anchor John Miller will interview the real Abagnale about his exploits impersonating an airline pilot, doctor and lawyer.
